FASCIAL MANIPULATION - LEVEL 1 HYBRID COURSE

COURSE OVERVIEW

The Fascial Manipulation Level 1 course provides the basic principles of Fascial Manipulation (FM). In this course, you will receive a systematic framework to palpate and navigate the fascial planes of the human body. Through learning this systematic approach, you will understand how prior injuries, surgeries and musculoskeletal trauma contribute to pain and dysfunction. This course combines lecture and hands on practical components that will guide you through the assessment and treatment process, making you able to better resolve your patients musculoskeletal pain.

COURSE INCLUDES

- Three days in-person practical components to learn the palpation, assessment and treatment of the Fascial Manipulation Method
 - Included in the in-person component is the Fascial Manipulation Level 1: Practical Part Textbook
- Three days equivalent online lecture series (presented by Professor Carla Stecco and Assistant Professor Antonio Stecco) to learn the anatomical, biomechanical and pathophysiological basis, in addition to assessment and treatment modalities of Fascial Manipulation
 - Pre-course webinar presentation and Q&A to review the online material and facilitate preparation for the practical component
- Post-course, in-person revision workshop following the course to review and refine the clinical application from the course
